GENERAL NEWS.

The True Inwardness of Conkling's Resignation Explained.

A TERRIBLE STORY OF STARVATION FROM A VIRGINIA COUNTY.

New York City to Receive a Dose of the Chinese Medicine—A New Telegraph Line to be Organized in the East.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

NEW YORK, June 10.—Gen. George H. Sharp, speaking of the candidacy of Mr. Conkling for re-election to the United States senate last year, in reply to a statement made by Conkling that he was not a candidate of his own desire and that friends did not urge him to withdraw as had been previously charged by Gen. Sharp's paper, the Kingston Freeman, says that among other things Mr. Conkling resigned for the purpose of being a candidate for re-election. He sought to introduce into American politics the English method of resigning and obtaining a reindorsement from his constituency in order that he might wage war upon the administration untrammeled by party obligations. So true was this that his friends in Albany were informed by the most expeditious methods. A special messenger was sent from Washington to Albany bearing letters of resignation, and from that message it was ascertained that Conkling expected immediate steps to be taken by his friends to insure his re-election. It was myself who was informed from Washington that he was to be re-elected. I was also asked to invite him by telegram to meet his friends in New York and consult about the steps to be taken. I refrained from sending any such telegram. Others were urged to send telegrams of like purport, but at least one prominent friend of Conkling also refrained from doing so. It was notorious in Albany that the messenger who brought the resignations stated without reserve that a re-election was expected by the resigned members. Gen. Sharp states most positively that every possible effort was made to induce ex-Senator Conkling to withdraw, but he would not listen to them.' He wanted it to appear that his re-election was unsolicited and at the same time he was using every means in his power to secure support.

A Starvation Report.

DANVILLE, Va., June 10.—Reports from Patrick county, in this state, are to the effect that five thousand persons in that county are starving. The drought last year greatly curtailed corn and other crops in that locality and in many portions of the county hundreds of people are crowding around settlements imploring aid. Contributions have been taken up in different parts of the country but have not been sufficient to relieve sufferings of these people. A courier just arrived gives heartrending accounts of the situation. Patrick court house is thronged with men, women and children begging bread. Some of the women had walked twelve miles, in some cases bringing infants in their arms, to beg for a little corn or flour, which could not be got for any consideration. A wagon load of shelled corn which arrived Thursday was at once surrounded by the emaciated and wan crowd, and all fighting eagerly for a handful of the precious grain which had to be given out to them. Three hundred people of Patrick courthouse alone have not tasted a morsel of food for two days. Some have died; others are dying in remote parts of the county for want of food. Patrick county is in a very isolated, mountainous and inaccessible section of the state, the nearest railroad station being 45 miles over a fearful road. Suffering is not only among the humble classes but well to do farmers, who have heretofore never known want, are begging for bread for starving families. Several wagons have been pushed out from Danville and will travel all night. It is to be hoped lives may be saved, but it is feared it will be impossible to reach all the sufferers in time.

Small Chance for Old Age.

CHICAGO, June 11.—An army officer here has prepared a statement from records from the departments showing what chances an officer in the regular service has of reaching 62 years, the retiring age, to say nothing of the 64th. Of 42 officers entering the service at 19 years, all but 4 have died before reaching the age of 62. Of 19 entering at 20 years, but nine arrived at 62; of 120 entering at 25 years, but 4 survived at 62. Of 46 entering at 27 years, but 2 survived at 62. Of 62 entering at 29 years, nine reached 62. Of 24 who entered at 32 and 34 none reached 62. Of 1829 officers whose ages were on this record, who entered the service at various ages from 17 to 61, but 81 ever reached the age of 62, or almost exactly 10 in 100. He then goes on to say: It will be readily seen that the greater the age fixed the less benefit accrues to the service. The object of compulsory retirement is to relieve present stagnation in promotion. Under the 64 year law there will be in 30 years only eleven retirements in the cavalry, nine in the artillery and 22 in the infantry." He thinks it would be much better if congress would make the age 60, or even 50, especially as the line is concerned. Such argument as the above will be used by the house when it comes to insist upon 62 years in conference of committee.

The Chinese Curse in the East.

NEW YORK, June 11.—The Mercury to-day will publish a report stating that a combination of cigar merchants has entered into a contract with the Six Companies at San Francisco, Cal., for one thousand Chinese, to be employed in this and other cities throughout the east in the manufacture of cigars. This scheme, which threatens the livelihood of white makers of cigars in this section, originated on signing by the president of the Chinese bill lately passed in congress, restricting mongolian immigration to this country. Ninety days had been specified for enforcement of the law, and officials of the Six Companies at once determined to take advantage of this time, and have decided to import many men from China to fill vacancies left by departure eastward of the thousands now on the Pacific coast. It was learned a strike among white cigar makers in this city is contemplated, and it is not unlikely that importation of celestial labor is intended to head off or defeat this movement.

The Ways of Stock Dealers.

NEW YORK, June 10.—Malicious reports circulated yesterday to the effect that the prominent banking house of Woerishoffer & Co. was in trouble appear to have been part of a concerted plan to break the stock market. From all parts of the country telegraph inquiries came about this house, as if by arrangement, and to make the story more plausible bets were offered that the house would fail. Concurrently with this large blocks of stocks with which Woerishoffer & Co. have been identified were thrown on the market. This kind of warfare is so dishonorable, and at critical times may be productive, directly or indirectly, of such damage, that the Stock Exchange should investigate matters and lead the way in such prosecution as the law warrants.

Rates to be Advanced.

NEW YORK, June 10.—It is reported that trunk lines have agreed to advance freight rates to the west nearly double the present prices, to take effect July 1st, and that lake and canal rates will be advanced to conform with their prices.

A New Telegraph Company.

CHICAGO, June 10.—Announcement will be made to-morrow morning that a new telegraph company with a capital of $21,000,000, has been organized, that work has actually begun on its lines in the east, and that they are to be pushed rapidly west, connecting all the principal cities. Elisha Gray, the electrician, gives the following facts in regard to it: The principal stockholders are Hon. George H. Roberts and S. B. White, of New York, Hon. John B. Alley and ex-Collector Beard, of Boston, and Gov. Foster, of Ohio, who with his friends hold a large block of stock. The lines are to be operated with Gray's patents, and to be known as the Postal Telegraph Company. Material reductions in telegraph tolls are promised; $700,000 has already been paid in for preliminaries.

Railroad Notes.

CHICAGO, June 10.—A private telegram received here assurance is positive that no war of rates will occur between the Union Pacific and the Burlington on Colorado business. This information is not official, but from a reliable source.

[illegible] Wheeler, general manager of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, and other lines west of the Missouri will work together in peace during the summer.

At a conference to-day of passenger agents of lines terminating at the Mississippi river east and west it was agreed to make round trip mining exposition tickets in Chicago to Denver, dating from July 15.

[illegible] Phillips, contracting agent of the Burlington road has been appointed general agent here of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe road, vice S. B. Hinds.

Riots at Alexandria.

ALEXANDRIA, June 11, 7 P.M.—Serious riots occurred to-day between natives and Europeans. Several persons were killed and wounded, and a number of houses destroyed. Police at first remained inactive. The riotous demonstration later took place before the French consulate, into which several of those mortally wounded at the outbreak of the riot were carried. Disturbances continued some time before the authorities took steps to suppress them. The English consul was severely hurt, receiving a gunshot wound, and the engineer of the British man-of-war Superb was killed. Disturbances continued five hours when military appeared and dispersed the rioters.

Trouble with the Crows.

CHEYENNE, June 10.—Governor Hoyt received a telegram to-day from Fort McKinney, stating that Crow Indians are scattered all over the country, killing cattle and stealing horses, and that Crows should be ordered back to their reservation or trouble would result. The Crows are supposed to be peaceable, but are stealing from settlers constantly.

Steamship Foundered.

NEW YORK, June 10.—Reports are received of the mysterious foundering of the British steamer Panoda on May 8, near Porto Santo, in Madeira islands, in a moderate sea. She cracked amidships, her decks started up and she foundered in two minutes. Of a crew of 25 four were drowned and the others escaped in boats.

Among the Strikers.

CUMBERLAND, Tenn., June 10.—This morning the men at Eckhart refused to transport coal mined by imported labor, and the company only have one engine at work this morning. They say the men's positions will be supplied with willing men on Monday.

After a conference this morning men in the iron mills agreed to go to work Monday at prices the same as when they quit work, and so remain until a scale is fixed at Pittsburg, which will be adopted here.

Will Return to Work.

WAREHAM, Mass., June 10.—Striking employees of the South Wareham nail company, received ten per cent. advance and will return to work Monday.

A Change to be Made.

A Post's Washington special says it is understood that Secretary Folger has determined upon a change in the office of superintendent of engraving and printing.

Found Guilty.

RALEIGH, N. C., June 10.—In the United States court Bryant, Jr., and Bell were found guilty in the Halifax election case. Each was fined $500.

The Freight Rate War.

CHICAGO, June 11.—A meeting of general ticket agents of roads interested in Pacific coast business was held in this city yesterday for the purpose of bringing about an advance on San Francisco rates from Kansas City, on business originating at Chicago. There were present C. S. Stebbins, Union Pacific; W. F. White, Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe; M. A. Thrall, Northwestern; Percival Lowell, Burlington; E. St. John, Rock Island & Pacific, and Francis Chandler, Missouri Pacific. The Chicago & Alton, which had been inviting to attend the meeting was not represented, but being in favor of the movement. The reason for this attempt to advance rates from Kansas City to San Francisco is owing to prevailing war of rates between Chicago and Kansas City roads west of the Missouri river to get a larger rate from Council Bluffs than from Kansas City, and as this sets detrimental to the Union Pacific this road is desirous of having the rate changed so as to make its proportion the same from Kansas City as from Council Bluffs. The rate from Chicago to San Francisco via Council Bluffs is $115 30, leaving $15 30 to roads from Chicago to Council Bluffs, and $100 to the Union Pacific from Council Bluffs to San Francisco. The regular rate from Kansas City to San Francisco is $104, but as the regular rate from Chicago to Kansas City is $14 80, the rate via Kansas City would be much higher than via Council Bluffs. To equalize this, roads west of the Missouri agreed to accept $100 50 from Kansas City to San Francisco, which made the through rate from Chicago to Kansas City the same as via Council Bluffs, $115 30. During the last year or two, however, the rate from Chicago to Kansas City has been $5 and Chicago roads added this amount to the $100 50 from Kansas City, making the through rate via Kansas City $105 50 against $115 30 via Council Bluffs. The Union Pacific now wants $104 added to the $5 rate from Chicago, so as to make the through rate $109, in order to equalize things a little more. No result was reached at yesterday's meeting, and it does not look as if the Union Pacific will succeed in bringing about an advance.

Prize Fight Delayed.

CONEY ISLAND, June 10.—This morning James Murray and Benjamin Green, of Providence, commenced a prize fight for $800 a side, and the lightweight championship of Rhode Island. Police appeared after the third round and captured Murray and his second. The rest escaped.

CRIMINAL NOTES.

A Horrible Deed.

CHICAGO, June 10.—Casper Seyboldt is a baker who works nights. Last night when he left home his wife began to prepare for a horrible deed. They had four children, aged 12, 7 and 2 years, and one four months old. She dressed them in clean white clothes with bright ribbons, gave them all strychnine, and when they died laid them out carefully with flowers in their hands and all surroundings made as beautiful as possible, and then took a dose of poison herself, having put on a white chemise with ribbons in it. When her husband appeared she told him to come in and see the children all dead and gone to heaven. One of the children was alive, but has since died. Mrs. Seyboldt died about 7 this morning. It appears Mr. and Mrs. Seyboldt did not live in entire harmony, and that since the birth of her last child Mrs. Seyboldt has not been in good health and it is believed despondency caused her to commit the deed. From a number of notes written by her oldest daughter, aged 12, it appears Mrs. Seyboldt talked the matter over with her and got her consent to the terrible tragedy. The letters generally are addressed to her school mates on childish matters, and two to her father; one says: "Forgive me; we leave you. Mamma thought it was the best we could do." The other asks him to bury them decently and tells him where she leaves money to buy flowers. One addressed to a school mate says, "Mother was always sick, you know, and thought of dying often, and how we would be treated, and so thought best for all of us to die at once, and bought something to kill us; baby first, Annie second, Tony third, I after, and then mother. We did not suffer much and now we are out of trouble."

Capture of the Brookfield Bank Robbers.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 10.—A special from Brookfield says: For but one hour since the raid was made on the bank have the robbers been lost sight of by their pursuers, and then the trail was quickly found again and followed until the bandits were forced into a log hut in the depth of the forest, about thirteen miles southwest of Kirksville, Adair county, where they fortified themselves and made loopholes in the sides of the house by knocking out the plaster between the logs. The house in which the bandits took refuge is built of logs, boarded over, and was excellently adapted for defense. From this point of vantage the robbers opened fire on their blockaders and three horses were shot and two men hit with bullets, one getting a ball through the hand, which afterward imbedded itself in the stock of his rifle. All night long the posse guarded the house, expecting the men to make a dash for liberty under cover of the night, but no such attempt was made. It would have been a sorry failure, for the bright moonlight made every entrance or exit to the house plainly visible to the watchers in the woods, while the shade of the thickly leaved trees kept the captors securely hidden from the prisoners in the hut. Nothing occurred during the night and the day dawned with sleepless men both inside and out of the improvised fort. At 6 o'clock this morning, however, the desperadoes called out that they were willing to surrender, provided they could be guaranteed safe conduct to jail. They expressed themselves as decidedly averse to being lynched, and insisted on a fair trial much after the manner of Captain Jack in the lava beds. After a short consultation the sheriff announced that the terms of their proposition were accepted and they were told to march out with hands up. Fearing a ruse a guard was kept upon all sides of the house, and a strong line drawn up in front of the door, sufficiently under cover to be safe in case of treachery on the part of the prisoners. Soon the door opened and the man with the long nose appeared with hands only partially raised. The members of the posse had no confidence in him, however, and a hundred weapons were brought to bear upon him. His hands went up high right off. Then the other three followed him out, and the sheriff went forward and deprived them of their weapons. Seven revolvers and two knives were found. After some consultation among the officers, it was decided not to leave with the prisoners until further reinforcements could be received, as there is a pretty general belief that the woods are full of armed desperadoes, friends of the bandits, who would attempt a rescue on the way to jail. About 5 o'clock this afternoon reinforcements arrived from Clarksville and Brookfield, and the party went to Kirksville, where they took the train for Brookfield, about 4 miles distant. The robbers gave their names as James and Frank Mason, Fox and Ward. The two former are known at Brookfield. At the instance of Governor Crittenden, Little, pardoned member of the old James gang, went to Brookfield to-night to ascertain whether any of the old gang are members of this band.

The Brookfield Robbers.

ST. LOUIS, June 10.—A Post Dispatch Brookfield special says: The special train with bank robbers in charge of Marshal McArthur and fifty men, arrived at 10:50 A. M. A great crowd assembled, but no demonstration was made. The prisoners identified are three brothers, formerly of this county, and the fourth is a stranger. All are rough looking. Mason's wife has gone under escort to recover the fourteen thousand dollars in gold hidden under the house. The prisoners were taken to Linneus this morning and will plead guilty.

ST. LOUIS, June 10.—Advices from Brookfield state that the bank robbers were taken to Linneus, the county seat, to-day and placed in jail, and have employed counsel, which indicates that they will not plead guilty when arraigned. A charge of assault to kill, as well as robbery, will be placed against the men. No more money has been recovered.

Hanged.

LAWRENCE, June 11.—At an early hour yesterday morning a masked mob of 100 men burst open the doors of the jail, secured Peter Vengar, a foreigner, and Geo. Robertson, and hung them to bridge timbers for the recent murder of Daniel Bundsmen.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Washington Notes.

Meeting of the Windom committee has been postponed until Wednesday.

According to Commissioner McFarland of the general land office, a larger amount of patent lands will have been disposed of this fiscal year ending June 30, 1882, than during any other year since establishment of the general land office.

Secretary Folger has concluded investigation of the charges against Wm. M. Woodcock, collector of internal revenue at Nashville, and states that none of the charges have been sustained except in the matter of discounting vouchers of employes of his office, and that on this point proof showed his participation in transactions was for a good purpose and resulted in no profit to himself.

The president has commuted the sentence of Edward M. Kelly, of New Mexico to imprisonment for life.

The River and Harbor Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Representative Page, in his report accompanying the river and harbor bill, says: "The bill deals liberally with all such works as will largely and generally facilitate the commerce of the nation by opening the great water ways of the country to free navigation." The committee believe that at no time in the history of our government have the people so unanimously demanded of congress as liberal appropriations for rivers and harbors, and that at no time in its history has any United States treasury been in such a condition as to warrant a large expenditure in this direction for the public good; and that it is of infinite importance for the protection of the public from undue exactions of railroad companies that the great natural highways of commerce, the rivers of the country, should be placed in the best condition to compete with them. The committee believe it is the desire of the people rather than reduce taxes upon the luxuries of life, as has been contemplated by this house, that relief be given to them by large appropriations for internal improvements and that surplus revenues should be expended for the benefit of such sections as are most in need of such improvements, so that the long neglected industries and commerce of the south may be properly stimulated, and those of all other portions of the United States may have needed relief.

A New Post Route Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Chairman Bingham, of the house committee of post offices and post roads has introduced a bill which deals with the question of additional compensation for services on expedited star routes. The bill provides, among other things, that when it becomes necessary to increase the speed of any route, services shall be re-advertised for the increased speed, the original contractors to have option of continuing service on the expedited route without additional pay. Mr. Bingham hopes, by enacting this bill into a law, to lessen the opportunities for fraud in connection with expedited services on those star routes.

An Inter-State Commerce Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Representative Townsend, under instruction from committee on commerce, has prepared a report upon the inter-state commerce bill recently agreed to by that committee, and will submit it to the house on the first opportunity. The bill provides for establishment of a board of commissioners of the inter-state commerce bureau of the interior department, whose duty shall be to thoroughly investigate and report upon the bearings of proposed legislation.

Guiteau's Adviser.

Guiteau has selected as his spiritual guide Rev. W. W. Hicks, Presbyterian minister of Washington, who will make daily calls at the jail.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Decisive Language.

CAIRO, June 10.—Dervisch Pasha to-day received the ulemas addressing them in the same firm language as hitherto held by him. Four of the ulemas declared Europe had not annexed Egypt, a act which was due to Arabi Pasha and the military party added that before the pending questions were settled, the English and French fleets must quit Alexandria. Dervisch Pasha on hearing this, exclaimed he came as representative of the sultan to see his majesty's orders obeyed, not to listen to advice, and ordered them to quit the room. He then continued the interview with other ulemas. It is believed in diplomatic circles Dervisch Pasha while offering general amnesty will go even further than the French and British ultimatum against leaders of the movement.

French Legislative Notes.

PARIS, June 10.—The deputies, despite the efforts of the minister of justice, voted 264 against and 212 in favor of a principal judge to be chosen by election.

The senate committee have approved the bill voted by deputies relative to introduction of salaried agents.

An English Blunder.

LONDON, June 10.—The Sportsman says: The action of the metropolitan amateur regatta committee in regard to the Hillsdale, Mich., crew by which they are unable to enter, is inexcusable. It is highly important Hillsdale should have strict justice. A few more miserable blunders similar to that made by this committee will severely damage the reputation of England for fair play.

A Balloon Excursion.

LONDON, June 10.—A balloon containing Sir Claude DeCrespigny and Simmonds, aeronauts, ascended from Maldon to-day, the occupants intending to cross the channel. The car struck a house, and Sir Claude fell out and broke his leg, and Simmonds proceeded alone. A dispatch from Calais states that the balloon was sighted from there this afternoon, proceeding southerly.

Lord Spencer's Speech.

DUBLIN, June 10.—Lord Spencer, lord lieutenant, addressing a deputation of school teachers, said, the recent murders furnished abundant proof that an organization existed which murdered and maimed in open defiance of law. He earnestly hoped the repression bill would be speedily passed.

Foreign Notes.

A bill has been introduced in the deputies providing for the immediate abolition of slavery in Cuba, and granting slaves civil rights.

Three hundred soldiers have been drafted in the district where Bourke was shot.

The fire at Baku, Russia, has extended to Naptha Wells, and is only likely to cease when material is exhausted.

Russian peasants again attacked the house of Count F. Bobrinski and a sanguinary conflict ensued in which several persons were killed.

DECORATION DAY AT BALL'S BLUFF.

BALL'S BLUFF, VA., May 30, 1882.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

The exercises of decoration day at this place have peculiar interest to the people of Oregon, so I drop you a line concerning them. Here is where the noble Baker met his honorable yet untimely death. As your representative, it was deemed fitting that Mr. George should be the orator of the occasion, the more fitting as here his ancestors lived before they removed to Ohio on their ultimate route to Oregon.

A more perfect day never dawned. It was simply paradisiacal, and Loudon county, the best agricultural section of Virginia, was a thing of beauty. We rode through the sleepy streets of antiquated Leesburg, where Braddock's headquarters are still in existence, and in the quiet hush of nature, could not imagine we were in one of the fiercest centers of the late civil war. Here "Yanks" and "Rebs" alternately contended for possession, and alternately, at brief periods, rested and gathered fresh energies for the strife. It is hard to conceive of anything more quiet than this section, with its population of southerners and Quakers, all rendered more inert by the richness of a soil which rewards easy toil with competence.

Ball's Bluff is about two miles from Leesburg. As we roamed over that fiercely contested battle field, a field of little significance save as the death of Baker, one of the earliest of our great martyrs, has thrown a glamour of romance over it, we received new ideas of the honors of war. When our troops were repulsed, there was no escape but by the river flowing at the base of the bluff, and our panic-stricken boys, seeing salvation only in the river, rushed over the bluff, many of them meeting death in their mad push for life, crushed and mangled, as they learned too late that a blank precipice yawned between them and the Potomac. The surroundings are calculated to revive the horror that thrilled the nation when the details of that sad day reached them.

In a small cemetery, neatly kept, enclosed in a stone wall, lie the remains of about sixty soldiers, of all of whom, save one, the inscription reads, "unknown." I have seen no cemetery that so impressed me with melancholy and loneliness. We lingered on the exact spot where Baker fell, from which Mr. George obtained some evergreens which will in the future adorn his grounds in Portland.

His oration was well harmonized to the occasion. Not having been himself a soldier, as he was only about 11 years of age when the civil war broke out, he wisely refrained from dwelling upon those events and scenes only a soldier can do justice to, but presented a calm and thoughtful view of the duties of a citizen soldiery, which were the natural outgrowth of liberty-loving homes. He devoted much of his time in bringing before his hearers the character and services of the leading personage of the battle, Gen. Baker. This part of the oration was new and very interesting, and invested the spot with a sacredness and intelligence that will give it a wider meaning to the residents of Loudon county.

His effort was a thoughtful and well-timed one, happily adapted to the peculiarities of the occasion, and enlivened by passages of tender feeling and real eloquence. H. P. J.

Mr. P. W. Fisk, money clerk at the American Express office, Kansas City, Mo., was interviewed by the reporter. Mr. Fisk said the St. Jacobs Oil is known to about every express messenger and employe of the company, and is used by them for a variety of ills, such as rheumatism, neuralgia, sprains, etc. Mr. Fisk stated that he had been using it [illegible] a train, he slipped and hurt his knee very badly. The hurt was so severe that it laid him up. He applied St. Jacobs Oil and was restored very soon. Mr. Fisk says the oil is the best thing he knows for taking soreness out of one's limbs after violent exercise. When [illegible] he used to be a boating man. All the college crews used St. Jacobs Oil for the above mentioned purpose. It seems to be understood [illegible] and pain arising from sprains [illegible]. He also recommends it to all sufferers [illegible].

LONDON LETTER.

Frelinghuysen's Panama Letter Meets with British Disapproval—Davitt's Speech Criticised Severely.

NEW YORK, June 11.—The Tribune's London says: Frelinghuysen's Panama dispatch does not improve the English estimate of the diplomatic abilities of its author, nor the soundness of the American contention. One journal stigmatizes his language as impertinent, and another says such claims cannot be serious. A third pronounces it peremptory in manner and shallow in argument, while a fourth insists that the dispatch embodies pretensions that the English must civilly but firmly repudiate. The full summary of the dispatch was cabled here. It has created slight interest except among journalists and diplomatists, and other matters are absorbing general attention.

Davitt's communistic speech in Liverpool naturally attracted some attention. One paper contemptuously summarizes his platform in the words, "Home rule and half price to landlords," and another describes Davitt's journey to America as a mission to make speeches in favor of plundering landlords of one-half their property and putting the proceeds in the pockets of their tenants.

Davitt's friends undoubtedly regard the scheme of so-called national association as indiscreet, but heartily approve the real object of the American visit to raise more money of which every dollar will be used for unlawful purposes. Regarding perpetrators of outrages, the Irish parliamentary party appear disposed to profit by warnings from their American allies against dissensions. It is organized on the principle of allowing anybody to advocate anything, approve or disapprove outrages or follow Parnell in parliament. Irish dispatches plainly indicate that there was apprehension that the murder of Bourke and simultaneous outrages elsewhere were the result of a widespread conspiracy for the renewal of agrarian and political assassinations on a large scale. The expressions of some home rulers simply imply that they consider this assassination, though ostensibly agrarian, really political, in the same sense as the Dublin murders were discreditable. The anxiety of intelligent Irish journalists to disassociate themselves from the murders is hardly shared by Irish parliamentary leaders. Parnell, though present in the house directing a systematic opposition to the crime bill and speaking repeatedly, has not found time to utter one word against the Bourke murder. His views regarding the murder were previously indicated by the proposal to exclude it from their bill because existing laws insure an adequate punishment. Trevelyan answered that of seventeen agrarian murders last year there had not been one conviction. This did not prevent Parnell from persevering in his proposal.

GENERAL CROP REPORTS.

The Country's Crops.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—The June crop report of the department of agriculture represents the entire area of 1501 of the principal counties of the United States, and includes all but a small fraction of the breadth of prominent crops. The area in cotton is 27.10 per cent. less than in 1881. A large number of returns say that with the recent fine weather cotton is improving and gives some assurance of a better report in July. The largest deficiency is in states bordering on the Mississippi river, where planting in overflowed districts was not entirely finished the 1st of June. The area sown in spring wheat has decreased apparently about twelve per cent. The comparative average of the northwest is as follows: Wisconsin, 85; Minnesota, 83; Iowa, [illegible]; Nebraska, 90; Dakota, 102. The condition of winter wheat is still very bright, averaging 100. Last year, in June, it was 76. Taking winter and spring areas together, and assuming a continuance of present conditions, a yield of thirteen bushels per acre would result, and the aggregate be exceeded only by the product of 1880.

The southern harvest is safe, and northern winter wheat has few risks to encounter, but spring is still uncertain. The quantity of the corn acreage cannot be given until July. A large increase in area is reported in the south and in the northwest, but in half the states planting was not finished on the 1st of June, and in a large district the plant had made no show above ground. In part of the south early planted corn is in tassels. Planting is everywhere late. The plant is small and not of average vigor or color, in consequence of cold and wet weather. The increase in area of oats is nearly universal, and amounts to an average of 7 per cent. Average of condition 101. The harvest promises to be very large. There is an increase of one per cent in the area of barley. Average condition 90. The condition of clover and spring pasture has improved and ranges very high in the south, and appears good in other sections.

In Kansas.

TOPEKA, Ks., June 11.—A summary of the report received by the secretary of Kansas state board of agriculture for the week ending June 10, shows very encouraging prospects for all kinds of crops, fruits and farm animals. Wheat is now out of the way of any possible contingency of harm and will harvest 18 bushels per acre, which for the state average is very large. This will give for the acreage reduced for 1881, 25 per cent., or 25,000,000 bushels. The rye acreage increases from last year about 3½ per cent. and is in unusually promising condition. Both corn and oats acreage has increased 181. No adverse reports are received concerning them. The last three days of the week have been warm and corn, that had been retarded by cool weather is now showing finely. Farm animals are in fine condition and have increased in number largely over 1881. The estimate of the board in March as to the number of sheep in the state will be exceeded. The number have advanced from 800,000 in 1881 to two millions in 1882. The secretary has in preparation his quarterly report for the second quarter of this year. It will show a very encouraging condition of affairs in regard to agriculture in Kansas.

In Missouri.

ST. LOUIS, June 11.—Reports of the condition of wheat throughout the west continues flattering, and with anything like favorable harvest weather a large yield of wheat is anticipated. This month a quarter of a million bushels at least, is expected from southern Illinois and southeast Missouri, where harvesting is going on steadily. A gentleman connected with one of the largest grain houses has just returned from a trip through Missouri and says he never saw such magnificent prospects. Wheat is turning yellow and general harvest will commence by a week from Wednesday.

In Arkansas.

LITTLE ROCK, June 11.—Weather the past week was most favorable for all crops. The warm bright days are causing improvement in cotton which is now growing finely, and the fruit crop is proving the largest ever known in the state.

Tennessee Crops.

NASHVILLE, June 10.—The Tennessee agricultural bureau has estimates of crops for May based on answers from ninety-three counties. Wheat is not seriously injured by rust anywhere. Much of the crop is already harvested and the yield is better than previous estimates. Increased acreage for the present year over last is 43 per cent. and crop 33 per cent. above last year's, making a yield for the present year of over seven million bushels. The weather the past few months was unfavorable for cotton and in some localities cotton land is replowed and planted in corn. The oats crop is very promising. Clover and grass acreage has diminished owing to last summer's drouth. Corn looks reasonably well.

Minnesota Crops.

ST. PAUL, June 10.—Crop reports from all parts of the northwest received to-night are more favorable than for two or three weeks. The weather is everywhere warm and dry, and corn, which was set back by cold spring rains, is coming forward well. In the northern counties wheat is six or eight inches high, covers the ground well and looks thrifty. In the southern part of the state reports of all grain are equally good, except in a few localities where rain is needed.

Crops in Illinois.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., June 10.—The department of agriculture reports the prospect favorable for more than an average yield of wheat per acre, although the army worm has stripped off blades in some of the southern counties.

CANADA.

An Extensive Colony.

MONTREAL, June 10.—A contract has been signed in Paris between Baron Reinach, member of the Canadian Pacific syndicate, and Charles DeCazes, of Winnipeg, agent of the above company, for the purchase of lands for colonization purposes. The society will choose its lands and then work them. The amount of land conceded is 20,000,000 acres in the neighborhood of the railway line. The company expects to establish thereon 150 to 200 families. It is expected to be only a year till the whole is colonized.

A New Line to China.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 10.—Information has been received that an engineer and fifty-two mechanics have reached Honolulu and are building a marine tramway. This is the initiative step toward establishment of a Canadian line to the Sandwich islands and China.

The Strikers and Protection.

Sacramento Record-Union: Instead of committing the economic mistake of striking for higher wages when the market is falling, and when consequently they have no hold on employers, they would, if they were wise, turn their organizations to practical account by opposing the monster Protection, which is responsible for three-fourths of their miseries. For why is it that the manufacturers, in spite of bounties, are compelled to stop work? It is because protection, by excluding them from foreign markets, and circumscribing the field of their enterprise, makes them liable to be affected by every passing depression in domestic trade, and so, instead of helping both them and the labor that depends on them. If the barrier of the tariff was thrown down we should never hear any more of mills working half time, or closing altogether for want of business. With the world for a market American manufacturers would have their hands full continually. They would be independent of the domestic market, they would cease to be sensitive to every temporary depression in home trade, and they would be able to pay good wages all the year round. This is what the workingmen would be striving for if they comprehended their own interests. Free trade is the greatest friend labor has in the world.

Unless the party gets clear of all responsibility for such men before 1884, "the scattering vote" will beat its candidate for president.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST.

Eastern Oregon.

Snipe valley in Umatilla county, Or., is now attracting considerable attention. Alby is the name of the post-office. It embraces about 12 or 15 miles square, all fertile land. For stock ranches it has no equal. Three good school houses adorn the beautiful vale, and there is room for many settlers to erect new and pleasant homes. Timber and water is plenty; winter seasons short, grass luxuriant, climate delightful.

Western Oregon.

The fruit crop will be light in Washington county this season.

A large warehouse is soon to be built at Coburg, Lane county.

Three fourths of the educators in Washington county are women.

A cougar, 9 feet long, and weighing 130 pounds, was killed last week on the McKenzie, above Eugene City.

Jasper Evans, of Mohawk valley, Lane county, had one side and hip terribly crushed a few days ago by a falling timber on a house that he was raising.

Mrs. Louisa C. Hughes, daughter of Harmon Green, of Linn county, and wife of N. J. Hughes, of Clackamas, died at her home near Oregon City on the 2d inst., aged 26 years.

Washington Territory.

M. Mulligan, a merchant of Cheney, died suddenly last Wednesday morning.

A special election will be held in Tacoma on the 26th inst. for the purpose of levying a $5000 tax to build a school house.

Dr. Power, the physician on the Indian reservation at Neah Bay has tendered his resignation, to take effect June 30th.

The special election held in Olympia last Monday for the levy of a tax for fire purposes, resulted in a two-thirds majority in favor of the tax.

Fifteen thousand brick are being used in the construction of the fireproof vault now being built for the safe keeping of the King county records.

The Walla Walla City Council has made provision for ringing what is denominated the "hoodlum bell," warning the boys and girls that the nine o'clock law is in force.

The Washington iron works last week cast the fly wheel for Stetson & Post's new saw mill, measuring 10 feet in diameter, 22-inch face. This is one of the largest castings ever turned out of the shops in that city.

The grand lodge of Good Templars of Washington territory and British Columbia will meet in Goldendale on Friday the 30th inst., at 10 A. M. A reduction of 40 per cent on the regular fares has been allowed by the railroad and steamship companies.

The new Presbyterian church of San Juan will be dedicated on Sunday, June 25th, Rev. A. L. Lindsley, D. D., of Portland, preaching the dedication sermon, Rev. T. J. Weekes, the pastor, and Rev. John Reed, of Port Townsend, will also assist in the dedication ceremonies.

White river is extremely high and much loss will follow. Messrs. Jacobus and Carpenter will lose twenty-eight acres of early potatoes, and many other farmers will lose smaller fields. The waters surround many dwellings, but no loss of life has occurred as yet. The Skagit river is still booming.

Yakima market stuff sells about as follows: Wheat and oats, 50 cents a bushel; eggs, 20 cents; butter 25 cents; lard, 14 cents; bacon, 15 cents; flour, $4; sugar, 12 to 15 cents; coffee, 16 to 20 cents; beef, 7 to 12½ cents; nails, $7 to $8 per keg; common lumber, $10 per thousand; finished lumber, $30 per thousand.

The board of directors of the Klickitat county agricultural society have decided on a four days fair, beginning Tuesday, October 3d. The premium list will shortly be published, showing that about $1000 are offered in that line. They expect to bring water to the fair grounds by hydraulic power, and new buildings will be erected to meet any demand that may arise.

C. N. Cain, wife, mother and their little boy, from Illinois, came to New Tacoma on the steamer which brought the Nellie Boyd troop, and on last Friday Mrs. Cain was discovered to have the smallpox. Dr. Bostwick immediately placed the family and premises in quarantine and has been attending closely to the case. He thinks there need not be any fear that the disease will spread.

The Protestant Methodist church of Seattle has built a new parsonage and are now building a church 38x70 feet. The society owns about $20,000 worth of property, and is out of debt. The box containing the records, etc., placed in the corner stone of the new building, which was laid last week, was deposited by Judge Thomas Mercer, the oldest Protestant Methodist on the Pacific coast.

Ledger: Mrs. Rector, who was shot by her husband in Tacoma, is reported to be much better than at the date of our last issue, although still in a critical condition and somewhat less promising than three days ago. She has been taking nourishment through the mouth and was rapidly improving apparently when a pocket of pus broke through the posterior wall of the larynx and has since been discharging through the mouth. There is still hope of her recovery.

All the streams emptying into the sound are now fairly booming. The hot weather of last week melted the snow in the mountains, and it is now rushing in torrents toward the sea. The Skagit river has overflowed its banks, and many farms are under water. Cattle are wading around on their accustomed pastures belly deep in water. The flats at the mouth of the river are flooded by back water from the river, and unless the floods subside very soon hundreds of acres of grain will be destroyed. Already the damage is very great to growing crops on the flats.

The hop-growers of Puyallup valley are taking steps to form what shall be known as the Puyallup Hop Growers' Association. Saturday, the 24th of this month, at 1 P. M., at Puyallup, is the time and place chosen to effect this organization. One object of this association is to raise funds that they may have the Associated Press hop dispatches for the months of August and September. This will cost fifty dollars per month. By these dispatches the grower can know the status of the hops and hop market from day to day at a trifling cost to each, at much less expense than the speculator who receives his private dispatches from England daily.

Steps are being taken to put a pontoon bridge across the Puyallup near the old crossing at the Walker place. The estimate of the cost of the bridge is between five and eight hundred dollars. The donation of four hundred dollars by the county commissioners at the last term of court, to improve the road on the west side of Stuck will, it is expected, bring the settlers of upper White river to Puyallup to trade instead of Seattle, as they will be only nine or ten miles from the former place, while they are thirty from Seattle. When this road is made in good condition for traveling a large section of good land lying along Stuck river will be brought into cultivation, that which is now in its primeval state.

In the territorial asylum at Fort Steilacoom there are now 22 female and 91 male patients, (113 altogether) the highest number yet reached. Of these three or four are private patients—the others public charges. The attendants number 14, including superintendent and accountant, seven wardens, baker, cook, night watchman, carpenter, &c. The garden is a bigger thing this year than ever before, and is looking fine indeed. The institution requires a great deal of water, but they have it in a spring bursting from the earth in the asylum grounds, furnishing 40,000 gallons daily. The patients are worked in the woods and garden to an extent sufficient to keep them healthy, and at the same time save the territory a good many thousand dollars each year.

On the Stillaguamish the river is now all clear, and all the logging camps are booming for a distance of 11 miles or more above its mouth. The uppermost camp is owned by Jas. Long, which though twelve miles up by the bends of the river, is in a direct line east from the mouth, not quite six miles, or a township in width. Another logging camp seen in the distance is that of John Gilchrist. Still another has just been started by a German, who recently arrived in a scow from Seattle, and there are others who came by the Daisy. Logs are boomed up the river and floated down in conveniently shaped booms. On what is known as the island, above Long's camp, there is a fine body of land, six miles in length and several in width, on which there are located 11 settlers, mostly bachelors. There is in fact, a settler for every half mile; and all the places on the island are becoming well improved.

On Sunday last a six-year old boy, the son of Edward Yates, who lives in the vicinity of Newaukum river, was bathing with several other children, and while the others were enjoying themselves the little fellow got around a bend in the river and disappeared. Pretty soon his absence was discovered and every effort was put forth for his recovery by the surrounding neighborhood, the search being kept up during Sunday night and Monday. About five o'clock Monday evening the little boy was found nearly crazy from hunger and fright, and restored to the arms of his almost heart-broken mother. How the boy could have lived during the rainstorm which occurred on Sunday and Monday, he being perfectly naked all the time, is something marvelous, and almost incredible. On the same day a little son of Mr. Shinkey, of Swantown, wandered into the woods and was not found for several hours, the whole neighborhood having turned out to search for him. The little boy when found stated that he had been holding on to a tree for fear of getting lost.

The logging camp of the Mattiloch Manufacturing Company is located at Carson, half a mile from Puyallup. They are getting out 20,000 feet of cottonwood logs per day, using the labor of 17 men and four yoke of cattle. These logs are made into rafts and towed to the factory of the company at Seattle. The company think they have a great improvement in the sheet barrel, which is made by cutting a log into barrel lengths, softening them by a steam process and then shaving each piece into a long sheet, unrolled like a carpet. The sheet is then cross-cut into such a length that when the two ends are brought together it is given the size and form of a barrel, without heads, the whole being done by machinery. This has proved a great improvement over the stave barrel in cost of manufacturing as well as in merits for use. The only drawback, if drawback it may be called, is that clear timber is required in this case, all the knotty timber being rejected, whereas for staves knotty timber may be used. Consequently the cream of the cottonwood is now being culled out, and unless the supply of virgin forests of this kind proves illimitable, they will after awhile be compelled to return to the manufacture of staves exclusively.

In Memory of Garibaldi.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 11.—The funeral demonstration held here to-day under the auspices of Italian residents of this city in honor of the memory of the late General Garibaldi was very imposing. Various Italian civic and military organizations turned out in full force to show the last respect due to the memory of the departed. Other nationalities also united in paying honor to the dead Italian patriot, a number of societies joining in the procession and participating in the exercises. The procession, which was nearly a mile in length, and consisting of five divisions, after marching through a number of the principal streets, proceeded to the grand opera house where the exercises were held. An appropriate funeral oration was delivered by L. E. Pratt, and musical and other exercises held. The catafalque was accompanied by about 20 pall-bearers. Several Italian societies had borne in front of them some elaborately designed and executed floral emblems and mottoes commemorative of the life and deeds of Garibaldi. The streets were thronged for several hours and the procession witnessed by not less than 50,000 people. Many residences of Italians were appropriately draped with mourning. All flags of the city were displayed at half mast and minute guns were fired during the day.

An Incestuous Parent.

EUREKA, June 10.—A twelve-year-old girl—Minnie Eustice—this afternoon swore out a complaint against her father, James Eustice, for incest. Her mother died the 15th of last November, and just one week afterwards he violated her by force, and has been guilty of the same foul deed repeatedly since. Before complaint had been sworn out, fearing that he might be lynched by an outraged community, he ran away on foot through the sage brush towards the Central Pacific railroad. A force of officers are in pursuit of him. It is in all the details a horrible affair, and the feeling here is so bitter against the unnatural father that it is not unlikely, if he is brought back to-night, an effort may be made to snatch him from the sheriff and hang him.

ROOFING COMPOSITION.
Patented Nov. 16, 1880.
This is a process by which a condemned tin or canvas roof can be made better than a new tin or canvas roof, and make it last forever.
It WILL NOT Crack and Leak
By reason of contraction or expansion, as is the result with a tin roof. It is simple in construction and durable in all climates. It consists only of cloth and paint composition.
BY PERMISSION WE REFER:
PORTLAND, Or., March 29, 1882.
MR. C. F. PEARSON, PORTLAND, OREGON:
Dear Sir—Your Roofing Composition has been thoroughly tried in this city, and so far as I know has given general satisfaction. From what I know and have seen I believe it to be better and more durable than either tin or asbestos. Very respectfully,

PORTLAND, Or., Feb. 4, 1882.
MR. C. F. PEARSON:
Dear Sir—We take this opportunity to express our entire satisfaction with your roofing composition that has been on over our store for the last five years. We shall cheerfully recommend your invention as being the best thing we know of for a roof. Respectfully yours,

Dear Sir—I take great pleasure in being able to say that I consider your "Roofing Composition" a first-class article for the purpose for which it is intended, and that it possesses all qualities claimed for it, and I can cheerfully recommend it to those having need for such an article. Very respectfully,

PORTLAND, Or., Feb. 24, 1882.
MR. C. F. PEARSON:
Dear Sir—Allow me to testify my appreciation of your durable roofing composition. As this steamer was placed on the opposition line last summer, it was roughly used by the passenger travel. It did not injure it at all. Had it been a tin or any other kind of roof it would have required repair, if not entirely spoiled. It is now in as good condition without any additional cost as when first put on. Yours respectfully,
JAMES WILSON,
Master O. R. & N. Co's Str. Dixie Thompson.
PORTLAND, Or., Feb. 24, 1882.
MR. C. F. PEARSON:
Dear Sir—Notwithstanding our efforts to secure a good roof over our immense stock of goods—we have tried asbestos roof and plain tin roof, with all the mechanical skill—we have been losers of goods to thousands of dollars from leaky roofs until we got your roofing composition on over our store. It has given entire satisfaction. Never caused the loss of goods to the value of one cent. It has now been on for years. Very respectfully yours,

C. F. PEARSON:
Dear Sir—I have tried your "Roofing Composition" on several of my houses in Portland, Oregon. They all, so far as I know, have given entire satisfaction. I believe it makes a better roof than tin or asbestos.
Respectfully yours, J. C. AINSWORTH.
We claim it to be superior to anything yet discovered in the shape of a roof, as it will save its cost, even on a new roof, in less than no time.
The "Cloth Paint Composition," and the manner of applying the same, is included in the Letter of Patent, granted Nov. 16, 1880. Any infringement on same shall be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

THE COURSE OF TRADE.

Gold is going out of the country at a rate which attracts attention in financial circles in the eastern states, and even appears to produce a little feeling of uneasiness for the future of business. But gold is not the only form of wealth. It is apparent that we are receiving for the gold which we export commodities which we regard as of greater value to us than the gold itself, else we should not make the exchange. It was once supposed that gold and silver were the only real values, and consequently that the only way for a nation to grow rich was to foster the importation and prohibit the exportation of the precious metals. This idea, though long since exploded, has left a residuum of error which appears from time to time in the alarm sounded by a class of commercial and financial publications, whenever a continued outflow of the precious metals is reported.

The bureau of statistics reports some figures on this subject, relating to the recent course of trade, which are, however, of considerable interest. We find from the official report of the movement of specie, that since January 1, 1882, the net export of gold has been about $11,500,000, while the same months of 1881 witnessed a net import of over $26,500,000. Exports of merchandise are likewise declining, and imports are increasing. By comparing the nine months of the current fiscal year, covered by these reports, with the same months of last year, we become aware of the proportions of the change. The total of exports for the three-quarters of the current fiscal year fell off $111,853,909, and the total of imports rose $58,171,642. This revulsion shows, primarily, that prices in our country are becoming higher than elsewhere; that is, that the markets of the United States are again better markets to sell in than to buy in. At the same time the increasing outward movement of gold shows, as might be expected, that the balances must be settled in the recognized money of the world.

A judicious writer says that a state of affairs like this should inspire that feeling of uneasiness and distrust which so often infects the mind at the bare mention of the fact that "the balance of trade" is against us, only in so far as the conditions which produced it and those which maintain are unnatural. It is clear that where trade is normal between several prosperous nations they cannot all have a cash balance of trade in their favor at the same time. The export of gold, if left to act freely, reduces the money supply of a country, brings down prices, and thus, by its own corrective influence, establishes a healthy reaction. But if the country whose specie supply is depleted rebels against the play of this law, if it has an inferior sort of currency (as we have in our silver dollars) ready to be pushed into the place of the departed gold, and to maintain the aggregate money supply at the same nominal figures as before; if its sellers refuse to lower the standards of money values, and prefer to bolster it up with speculative ventures; if the high range of prices is protected by a tariff from the natural and healthy effect of foreign competition; and if every little stringency in the money market, the first sign of a healthy reversal of existing conditions, is regarded as the precursor of panic and loss, and met with howls of indignation against the banks for "locking up capital," and a raid upon the treasury to compel it to pay off bonds and relieve the pressure upon the street—then danger may attend the export of gold and an unfavorable balance of trade. Our system is not a sound one. It stimulates to sudden activity, which, brought about as it is by artificial means, has no steadiness and is liable to revulsion and even to disaster. Our tariff makes prices so high that goods are imported in spite of it, and our working classes still have to face the competition which it was designed to prevent. Here again is the precursor of "hard times."

SWIFT RETRIBUTION.

Not a whole year has past since the fanatical persecution of the Jews commenced in Russia, and already the government feels the injurious reaction and is discouraged at the evident cost in the national wealth, vigor and prosperity. Last week the cable told us that the minister of finance, perceiving the effect upon the revenue and upon business, and alarmed at the prospect of a diminished exchequer, had threatened to resign if the severe measures of Ignatieff to accelerate the emigration of the Jews are adopted. Certain branches of trade were mainly in the hands of this hunted race, and as its members are driven out of the country these branches at once languish and decline. The damage thus far suffered in the shape of houses, breadstuffs, and other property destroyed by the violence of the persecuting populace, with the money and valuables carried away by departing Jews, is estimated to amount to $110,000,000. This, too, is only the direct loss to Russia measured in dollars; other consequences are yet to come. Now that the calm judgment of the authorities surveys the scene of desolation and crime precipitated by popular fury, it is seen that the losses are large, discomforting and permanent, while the gains are small, illusive and transitory. The triumphs of civil and religious warfare upon the rights of conscience always turn out in the end to be disastrous defeats.

History abounds with examples of the rebound from persecution assisted by the state. In the fifteenth century the Moors were expelled from Spain, with the double view of driving out a powerful class of religionists while consolidating the kingdom; but when Granada was thus unpeopled its exiled inhabitants, who were the manufacturers of the realm, carried away with them the mechanical arts which had done much to make Spain prosperous. The much vaunted and highly valued victory over a hated race proved to be a mortal stab at Spain's industrial ascendency, and the starting point of a long decline. A similar result followed the revocation of the edict of Nantes, which had secured to the Protestants in France the free exercise of their religion and an equal claim with the Catholics to all offices and dignities. That revocation was a signal to the Huguenots to quit the soil of their native land. Although the reigning dynasty and its partisans regarded the emigration as a good riddance, the fleeing exiles took with them industrial occupations which had been of great benefit to France. With open arms England received the refugees, and became the seat of the arts which her rival had recklessly cast out. On consulting the past we shall find that great triumphs of superstition and force have always been followed by a retribution arising out of the events themselves; but the momentum of our nineteenth century civilization hastens the arrival of retributive justice, as Russia already begins to see. As Russia loses, America will gain. The most wealthy and enterprising of the persecuted people are coming across the Atlantic. Even the Pacific northwest is receiving colonies of these exiled people, and if, as a class, they are fairly represented by agents now here, their coming will be a great good fortune to the country.

The people of Iowa are to vote on the 27th of June on an amendment to their state constitution forbidding the sale of all intoxicants. The fight is reported to be very hot, and party lines are largely ignored. The Des Moines Register, the leading journal of the state, with many other papers, favor the proposed amendment. A contemporary says: "It is a significant fact that the Germans are as much divided as the native-born citizens. Both sides are doing their best, and the excitement will increase until the day for voting is past."

IS PETROLEUM GIVING OUT?

Petroleum was discovered to be an excellent substance for lighting purposes just as the supply of whale oil was giving out, and lard oil had become too costly for profitable consumption. It is now popular throughout the world, and our country is producing the main supply. Yet it may not be inexhaustible. If Mr. H. E. Wrigley is right in his paper lately read before the American Institute of Mining Engineers, most of the wells in New York and Pennsylvania will give out within four years. His calculations are ingenious, but we trust not conclusive. He holds that there are now left of certainly available territory only eleven square miles, and of possibly, but still uncertain, territory, 370 square miles. Fifty-four miles of actually worked territory has produced 108,000,000 barrels. Eleven miles, according to this computation, will yield 22,000,000 barrels. From the uncertain area, judging from the varying results of working in similar soil, 74,000,000 barrels may be expected. Thus as the future yield will be 96,000,000 barrels, and about 25,000,000 barrels are used yearly, the main supply will give out in between three and four years. Should new wells not be discovered or old ones fill up again, the price must rise as the period of exhaustion approaches. These predicted results are startling, but it will be remembered that similar prophecies of an early giving out of the English wood supply were made. Some argued that Great Britain would be obliged to import all her fuel by the beginning of the next century or soon after, but, we believe the period of exhaustion has now been postponed for several hundred years. Should petroleum fail, however, the advance in electrical discovery renders it quite possible that further strides may be made, and that every family may become its own electrician. Meanwhile the whales have had a rest, and from being nearly all killed off are becoming quite abundant again. Whatever may happen, the people will not be obliged to go to bed at sundown for lack of light.

The Washington monument has now reached a height of 260 feet, and the builders propose to keep on until they have attained a height of 500 feet. As to the hugeness of such a pile of stone when completed there can be no question. It will be prodigious, and it is doubtful whether any other country can boast of a shaft of the kind that is anything like so high. But as to its taste and appropriateness, there will not be quite so much occasion for vain-gloriousness. As a sign of the estimate we place upon our great men, such a method of monument building may have some merit, for if the greatness of our greatest American may be considered equivalent to 500 feet, then we may grade the others down accordingly so that the eye can measure at a glance exactly how great the illustrious defunct were. It is not, however, according to the most approved rules of taste to commemorate greatness by this sort of mathematical method. Our respect for Washington is not to be measured by the quantity of stone we can pile up in one heap in his honor. A pedestal twenty or thirty feet high, surmounted by a plain but well executed statue of the great patriot, should have been placed in one of the principal squares or parks of the national capital, in lieu of the monstrous stone-pile now building on the Potomac flats.

Secretary Teller, who has had some personal observation of the conduct of Indian affairs, announces that he will not continue the practice of allowing various religious denominations to select Indian agents. The secretary's grounds are thus explained in a Washington special: "In practice under the late custom it has been found that many men of no business capacity whatever have succeeded in obtaining strong church indorsements, and in some cases men have secured this influence who turned out to be morally unfit for the position. The secretary says his examination of the results of this system of selection has convinced him that it has proved a decided failure. He finds that the average time that agents thus selected have been able to hold their places has been considerably less than two years. A very considerable proportion have been relieved for incompetency. He also objects to the system on the ground that it introduces a divided responsibility, and agents selected under this plan are inclined to hold themselves somewhat independent of the department." They even rely on the influence of their churches to sustain them against the department—a feature of the system not likely to be more promotive of efficiency and economy than of subordination.

In Grant county the republican state ticket has eighty majority. Republicans elect the senator and representative. This gives the republicans 16 in the senate to 14 for the opposition. In the house the republicans have 36. The democrats have 21 certain. One in Wasco and one in Umatilla, one in doubt, and one in Yamhill is a tie. The republican majority on joint ballot, giving the democrats all the now doubtful ones, will be 14.

Our Eastern friends will soon have an opportunity to study the Chinese question in the aspects which have made it a vital issue on the Pacific coast. One thousand coolies, the telegraph informs us, have been engaged by New York cigar-makers and will soon go to work in factories in that city. People of this coast will enjoy the agitation which has already commenced.

Just now everybody is saying again that the streets and buildings in the lower part of the city must be raised. But it will all be forgotten again in ten days after the water begins to fall.

MONDAY MORNING, JUNE 12, 1882.

CITY.

SAD DEATH AT SEA.—The British bark Hannah Dudley arrived at this port yesterday from Hongkong and discharged her cargo. She had on board 271 Chinese passengers, who passed under inspection of the customs' officers. The Mongols waded through the puddles of water on Front street out into the city, to the great delight of the small boy, who jeered in derision when the unfortunates muttered a heathen prayer as the icy water swashed against their bare ankles. Only one failed to arrive in time to witness our magnificent flood. Alas! poor fellow, he died upon the passage. The manner of his death is pathetic. Awaking one morning from a beautiful dream of the bright-eyed, dainty-footed, delicate Wun Lung, with whom he had plighted troth and had left weeping in the far distant rice fields, he started to go on deck, but found the atmosphere of the hold had congealed during the night. He had lost his knife and could not cut his way up. He attempted to butt a passage, but ruptured a blood vessel in the effort and expired with the name of his sweetheart upon his lips.

TO ENJOIN COLLECTION OF TAXES.—J. B. Montgomery has instituted suits against the sheriffs of Thurston, Wahkiakum and Cowlitz counties to enjoin the collection of taxes upon lands purchased by him from the N. P. R. R. Cases are now pending in the Olympia, Lewis and Kalama courts. Judge J. R. Lewis, and Messrs. Jacobs & Jenner, of Seattle, represent him. N. H. Bloomfield, district attorney, represents the counties. The N. P. R. R. have instituted similar suits along the line of their road to enjoin the collection of taxes against all the lands in their land grant. These cases involve the question of the exemption of the lands from territorial taxation upon the ground of not having paid for the survey of the same as provided by the charter before the lands can be patented to them that they are not taxable. The cases will shortly be heard. As they involve many important questions of law, the result will be looked for with interest.

THE FOURTH AT VANCOUVER.—Stirring preparations are already being made for the celebration of the nation's birthday at Vancouver. To begin with, there will be a grand military parade and General Miles has promised that that most exciting of all events, a sham battle, shall also be enacted with all the paraphernalia of war. A base ball game is also promised. Steamers will run excursions from Portland, and crowds will visit the groves that surround the town.

NO DETENTION.—Knott Bros. will spare no pains to keep the approaches to Stark street ferry in good condition for the accommodation of travel during the high water, posters that have been put out by an opposition company to the contrary notwithstanding. Two years ago the high water was not permitted to interfere with regular travel, and the Willamette will have to get up several feet more before passengers and teams will be detained.

FOR THE VALLEY.—The Jay Rial Uncle Tom Cabin Co., after a most successful week at New Market, leave this morning for Independence, where they give a performance to-night; Salem Tuesday and Wednesday, and return here Thursday for one night only. The matinee Saturday drew the largest audience when admission was charged that ever gathered in New Market, the receipts being over $600. In the evening the house was also packed.

COAL FROM NANAIMO.—The Oregon Improvement company's steamship Walla Walla arrived at Ainsworth dock last night. She is the unknown steamer reported outside the bar last Friday, and from which no further reports were heard because the wires to Astoria were down. She brings a load of coal from Nanaimo for the engines of the O. R. & N. Co.'s steamers.

COMING THIS WAY.—A party of surveyors in the employ of the Oregon Short Line was on Silver creek, at a point about twenty miles from Hailey yesterday. They are locating the branch line of the Oregon Short Line up Wood river to Hailey, and are expected here by Sunday.—Wood River Times, June 2d.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT.—Judge Deady will announce a decision in this court this morning in the case of Wheeler vs. Wood & Rhoads upon the motion for a preliminary injunction for infringement of the plaintiff's patent for an improvement in a force pump.

ANNUAL MEETING.—The annual meeting of the High School Alumni association, for the election of officers, will be held at the library room of the Central school this evening at 8 o'clock.

STRAWBERRY FESTIVAL.—The ladies of the Christian church will give a strawberry festival at their church to-morrow (Tuesday) evening. All are invited.

BRIEF MENTION.

The "State" sails to-night.

Special council meeting this evening.

Regular meeting of the board of trade this evening.

The first Rive-King concert to-night. A few good seats are yet to be had at Prentice's, Portland.

The German ship Fritz, from Hong Kong, is at Astoria, and will be up in a day or two. She brings about 300 more of the almond-eyed heathen.

NEW YORK, April 17, 1881.

MESSRS. STEINWAY & SONS—Gentlemen: Just returning from an extended tour of this country and Canada, having used one of your celebrated Concert Grands during my Tournee, which embraced 138 Concerts, I cannot but express to you my unlimited admiration of the marvelous durability of your pianos, besides their matchless qualities of tone and touch. The weather, as you know, during the past season was unusually severe. For 4 weeks during our concerts in the far west the thermometer was never higher than 10 degrees below zero and at St. Paul 4 degrees below zero during my concerts there. Notwithstanding the severe test of the instrument by the elements, I used the piano almost nightly, which necessitated transportation on an average of 100 miles per day, the piano having no protection but a canvass cover. I found it always equal to the occasion, rarely requiring tuning, and during all this time not a string broke or a hammer out of order.

Will you kindly send me one of your small Grands (if possible the same one I had before) for my private use while in the city.

In the constant use of your pianos in my own home, and in all my public concerts, where I have had my own choice, I have become so accustomed to them, that I do not feel at home without them. Please accept these lines from one who prefers your pianos to all others. Yours respectfully,

JULIA RIVE-KING.

SLIGHT RISE YESTERDAY.

CLARK'S FORK AND SNAKE RIVER STILL RISING.

Passenger Travel to the Inland Empire Kept up by Boats and the Old Portages.

The Willamette in the 24 hours ending at one o'clock this morning has risen 7 inches and the Stark street gauge read 25 feet 7 inches. During the last five hours it rose but little over one inch. Front street at Stark and at Ash is covered to the depth of two inches. Below Ash where the street was raised, it is still eighteen inches above the river level. There is one inch of water on the office floor of the Clarendon hotel, and with yesterday's dinner the proprietors gave up feeding guests. Sleeping apartments, however, will be furnished, and as there is a good sidewalk to the building, no inconvenience will be experienced.

UP THE COLUMBIA.

Following are the bulletins to the O. R. & N. Co. yesterday at 5:30 A. M.:

The Dalles—Clear, strong wind, thermometer 70, river rose 7 inches in past 24 hours.

Celilo—Clear, heavy up stream wind, thermometer 68, river rose 2 inches.

Umatilla—Cloudy, strong up stream wind, thermometer 72, river rose 5 inches.

Riparia—Cloudy, strong up stream wind, thermometer 74, river rose 1 inch.

TRAVEL NOT INTERRUPTED.

The R. R. Thompson arrived down at 6 o'clock yesterday morning with a large load of passengers. The Fasco brought down from Umatilla yesterday 86 passengers which came over the Celilo-Dalles portage and left The Dalles by boat at 5:10 P. M. They will reach here via the Cascades portage about 3 A. M. Passengers by the up river boat this morning will in all probability get through without delay.

On account of the continued rise in the Columbia it is impossible to repair breaks in the railroad. All the Snake river boats will be brought down to Celilo, and the company will likely commence moving freight by river in a day or two.

THE LATEST.

HERE'S COMFORT.

Clark's Fork within Two Feet of High Water Mark.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

CABINET LANDING (Montana, via Sand Point, I. T.), Sunday evening.—The river at this point has continued for the last five days to rise at the rate of ten inches in twenty-four hours. The gauge now indicates sixteen feet above low water, or within two feet of high water mark. The bottom lands in the vicinity of the lower sections of the river are inundated for many miles. No damage has been done any of the railroad company's works. The large, continuous bodies of driftwood passing is decreasing. It rained hard last night, and there is lower temperature to-day. The indications are favorable that the high water mark, if reached, will not be exceeded.

[This is the first weather bulletin ever received from Montana. The distance by rail is 500 miles; by river, about 700 miles.]

THE SNAKE RISING.

THE PRINTERS' PICNIC AT SALEM.

The second annual picnic given by the printers of Salem on Friday last at Marion square in that city, and proved even more successful than did the one given by them about a year ago. The city was literally filled with people from abroad, the Albany boat coming down well laden with visitors and friends from that city, who were accompanied by the College band, and arriving there about 11 o'clock. They were met at the wharf by the printers of Salem, headed by the Second Brigade band of Dallas in full uniform, and numbering sixteen pieces. The Capitol Guards, together with their band, marched with the printers to the boat, and there being joined the Albany folks, the line of march was taken up for the square, the procession being under control of John W. Minto, as chief marshal, with R. P. Boise, jr., and Percy V. Fiske as aids. Arriving at the grounds, the grand stand was taken possession of by the craft, and after music by the band, Hon. A. Bush, president of the day, made a few introductory remarks, relating some incidents in the early history of the craft in this state, and introducing Hon. P. H. D'Arcy, orator of the day. Mr. D'Arcy's remarks were very appropriate for the occasion, dealing mainly in a review of the personnel of the typographers of early and more recent date in the history of Oregon, his local hits being pointed but not severe. During its forty minutes delivery the strictest attention was paid by the large concourse of people present, and at its close he was warmly congratulated on its worth. At the conclusion of the address the general committee of arrangements assumed control of the affair, and the contest for prizes commenced at once. Of these there were about 80, and their award consumed the greater portion of the afternoon, but created an endless amount of sport. Special mention should be made of the prize offered by Hines, the printer, of this city, who presented an elegant silver caster to the mother of the prettiest baby on the grounds under two years of age, the printers adding a silver knife, fork and spoon as a second prize for the same contest. About thirty little ones were entered, and the committee after considerable consultation, awarded the first prize to Mrs. F. M. Scott of Walla Walla, and the second to Mrs. A. B. Crossman of Salem.

The rifle match and boxing contest were prominent features of the occasion. Every contest, in fact, afforded fun for participants and spectators, and it was nearly 6 o'clock before the crowd left the grounds. The engine and hose-cart contests at 7 o'clock P. M. lined Commercial street with spectators. The first prize of $50 was won by Tiger engine No. 2, and the second prize for the hose contest and a purse of $25 was won by Capital engine company No. 1. Jacob Hanson, of the Capitals, had the misfortune to have two of his fingers cut off by being caught in the brakes some way, which served to mar the otherwise pleasant incidents of the trial. The ball at Reed's opera house in the evening proved an auspicious ending to the events of the day. It was largely attended, Varney & Bray of this city, furnishing the music. Taken all in all, the printers of Salem deserve credit for having successfully carried out the picnic of the season.

TOO MANY CHINESE.

Capt. T. G. Strachan, of the British steamer Anerly, which arrived here a few days since from Hong kong, was arrested and tried in the United States circuit court yesterday, for violation of the passenger law. The Anerly discharged 800 Chinamen and cleared the same day for San Francisco, no doubt intending in that way to deceive the authorities in regard to the number of Chinese brought, and avoid the heavy fines which have been imposed upon other vessels. It was learned, however, there were about 140 more passengers on board which would make an excess on the number allowed by law, hence the arrest. On the trial the surplus number was proved to be 33. The captain was found guilty and sentenced to pay a fine of $1650, or the full passage rate for each extra passenger, $50, and to stand committed to the county jail until it was paid. His counsel applied to the court for a stay of proceedings until a pardon could be asked for from the president, but the motion was denied. Finally, the captain concluded the cheapest way out was to settle up, which he did with very bad grace.

Commencement Exercises.

On Wednesday, beginning at eleven o'clock, the regular exercises were held. The first oration was by Mr. N. Davis, of the junior class, on "Egypt." It was largely historical, and descriptive of Egypt's greatness. Miss A. Poppleton then read an essay on "Fossils"—natural and human. She did not berate ancient knowledge only when allowed to absorb the individual, but stated that there was great good to be found in it if the life of the present time was given to it, so that thus it should become practical. Mr. M. Gillihan, of Walla Walla, of the senior class, then delivered his oration on "Education versus Knowledge." He stated that education is to draw forth and develop the mind, while knowledge crowds in and fills up. Knowledge, indeed, is good, not to depend on, but to draw forth what is there. Then will mind fulfill its destiny. Miss M. Virginia Keene, of Fairfield, read an essay on "Ideals and Idols." Idols are ideals fulfilled, for the latter become idols when followed too closely. Only God is a high ideal which can fill the mind so as to kill idols.

Mr. B. Y. Rowe was the last speaker. His subject was "Caste." He depicted this, for the high classes become lazy, while the low ones cannot rise. The difficulty between capital and labor, he said, was connected with this subject, but that there was no real conflict between these two subjects. His delivery was excellent.

The degrees of A. B. were then conferred upon these two gentlemen, and of M. S. on Miss Keene. "It pays to raise such boys," said a friend to me.

After this the alumni dinner was eaten by a pleasant social company, but the laughable and sober speeches after dinner cannot be reported. Very tender reference was made to one of the class of 1876, Miss Mary Eaton, who has recently died.

At four o'clock there was an exhibition of the military drill under Capt. Wilkinson. The students made a creditable appearance. A hundred light Springfield muskets and two cannon have recently been secured for their use. In the evening there was an enjoyable reunion of the friends of the Institution at the church.

After listening to all the exercises of the week, the thought has often come to a non-resident, "Wonder if the people of Forest Grove realize what great privileges they have."

Prof. W. D. Lyman, after five years of trial, has been elected as permanent professor. It is expected that President Herrick, who is in the east for the benefit of the institution will return about the beginning of the school year. He has secured several thousand dollars for the school during this visit in the east. An armory and gymnasium will probably be built soon, so that the military drill can be carried on during the stormy weather of the winter.

The Indian school, under Capt. Wilkinson, continues to appear favorably in good manners, neatness, reputation and life. Thirty-two of the ninety scholars spend half of the day in the blacksmith, carpenter and shoemaker's shops, and on the farm. About forty acres of land have been leased of Mrs. M. R. Walker, where ten of the boys work under the superintendence of Mr. F. T. Walker. Twelve of them from various reservations united with the Congregational church a few weeks since. It is expected that the school will soon be increased to one hundred and fifty scholars.

IMPROVEMENT.

The old buildings on Morrison street, between Front and First—ancient city landmarks, as they were—have at last succumbed to the march of progress and improvement. They are now demolished, and on their site a spacious and elegant building will be erected.

The new building, first and second floors, will be occupied by the GOLDEN RULE BAZAAR, now doing business at 162 First street, next door to corner of Morrison. The back wall of this latter building will be taken out to make connection with the new structure, completing the handsomest and brightest store in Portland.

During the erection of the new building, special inducements are being offered at 162 First street. The proprietors of the GOLDEN RULE BAZAAR possess exceptional facilities. They procure the newest and most desirable goods from European and American manufacturers, and offer them, WHOLESALE and RETAIL, at strictly New York rates.

This assertion has been found to be correct by every visitor to the establishment. They sell all goods at one price, which price is marked in plain figures. They guarantee every article in the establishment, being willing to cheerfully exchange goods or return money, when so desired.

They are pleased to show visitors through their store, urging no one to purchase.

Their stock consists of Ladies' Fancy Goods, such as laces, corsets, ribbons, dress trimmings, handkerchiefs, gloves, hosiery, etc.

Of Meriden Silver Ware, all the goods made by this celebrated Company. Rogers Bros'. forks, knives and spoons in all patterns. The Ansonia Co's fine clocks, all guaranteed. John Russel Co's famous table cutlery; frames of all kinds, brackets, toilet articles, brushes, stationery, bronzes, ornaments, knick-knacks, smokers' goods, albums, chromos, bird cages, and hundreds of useful and ornamental articles in every day demand.

They offer special inducements to the trade, and also TAKE PARTICULAR CARE IN FILLING ALL ORDERS FROM THE COUNTRY. Write to them for prices and information.

MONDAY MORNING, JUNE 12, 1882.

NEWS OF SATURDAY.

[From the Sunday Oregonian.]

An Unwarranted Strike.

CINCINNATI, June 10.—President Jarrett of the amalgamated iron and steel workers, met with the striking workmen of this vicinity at Covington to-night. After hearing the case as presented by the men he delivered the opinion that their strike was not justifiable and the men were bound to continue at work under the terms of the contract of last October with manufacturers. The meeting agreed with Jarrett's views and to-morrow he will confer with mill owners and it is expected mills will be running again Monday.

Echoes from the Strikes.

CUMBERLAND, Md., June 11.—About 140 new miners went to work yesterday and the remainder will go to-day or Monday. The Knights of Labor have issued an edict to all miners to remain away from the Cumberland region pending settlement of the present difficulties.

COLUMBUS, O., June 10.—Hon. Jas. G. Blaine and S. B. Elkins, of New York, accompanied by a number of Boston capitalists, are here on a tour of inspection of the Standard coal and iron company's property, in which they are interested. They left for the east to-night.

Ex-Gov. Denison is rapidly declining to-night after a long illness. All children have been called home.

National Rifle Association.

NEW YORK, June 10.—The secretary of the national rifle association is daily in receipt of letters from Michigan, Louisiana, Maine, Illinois, Iowa, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, California, Connecticut, New York and Dist. Columbia, expressing great interest in international military rifle contest, many of the states offering prizes to men securing a place on the team to be selected.

The Burning Coal Mine.

TREMONT, Pa., June 10.—Operators of lower Rausch creek are building a dam so the water may be turned in to extinguish the fire in the burning part of the mine that is isolated. It is hoped the fire may be drowned out within two weeks. Two hundred and fifty men, in the meantime, will be thrown out of work.

NEW YORK, June 10.—Gold exports from New York since April 1st have been about $17,000,000, the greater portion of which will be used in Italy in resuming specie payments. It is believed contractors have about $10,000,000 more to furnish the Italian government.

Prize Fight Postponed.

PITTSBURG, June 10.—Weidan and Maloney, pugilists, who were to fight near Lice island in the Ohio river, next Monday, announce postponement of the until some future date on account of threatened arrest. It is thought this is only a ruse.

Reception of Senator Hill.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 10.—An immense crowd assembled at the depot to welcome Senator Hill, but owing to the critical condition of the senator, the only demonstration was the uncovering of heads as the carriage passed.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Consolidation Asked For.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Senator Jones introduced in the senate to-day a bill now in judicial committee of the house, in which body it was introduced by Representative Hill, in which he proposes to allow the Mexican Pacific railways of New Mexico, Arizona, Los Angeles and San Diego Railroad Co. of California, and the Southern Pacific Railroad Co. of California, to consolidate under the name and style of the Southern Pacific Railroad Co., and confers upon the three first named companies or consolidated companies all franchises, rights allowed, authority granted to, and privileges conferred upon the Texas Pacific Railroad Co. by act of March, 1871, relating to that part of the Texas Pacific Railroad situated west of the Rio Grande, and confirming to them the grant of public land of the Mexican Pacific by act of March, 1871. The condition attached is that the whole of the railroad company shall be operated as one continuous line.

[illegible]

[illegible] of the committee on commerce [illegible] a report upon the subject of [illegible] which he will submit to the [illegible] deliberations [illegible]. It is selected from a large [illegible] introduced by Mr. [illegible]. The report says the committee [illegible] bills and resolutions [illegible] of which provided for statutory regulations upon railroads directly, the other half [illegible] which it should have control of the subject. The interests to be considered [illegible]. There are over 100,000 miles of railways in the United States, representing, by all estimates, [illegible], which in 1880 carried 300,000,000 tons of freight and gave employment to 410,255 persons. The interests affected by these roads were so diverse that it would be impossible to impose regulations upon them which would do justice to all parties. Supplying the ocean carrying trade, nearly all roads are brought into direct and violent competition with Canadian roads, which are unhampered by any legislation, consequently the question before the committee was very far-reaching in its effects, and any legislation which prescribed unalterably for the government of these roads or transaction of any business was dangerous. No set of laws could possibly meet complications which were presented. The report speaks of Reagan's inter-state commerce bill as among the most radical of those proposing direct regulations for governing the roads, and says that its adoption would work great harm to the shipping interests of the country. [illegible] be mentioned. The report says that the question of regulation of interstate commerce is not a new one to the country. It [illegible] by that there no instance have difficulties ever been settled by such regulations as were proposed by the Reagan bill. On the other sides, states have established commissions and found them not only successful in governing roads, but had done away with many evils which were complained of as irremediable. The report then recommends passage of the bill, as amended, which provides for a commission of three men to be selected for their ability for the work, with salaries at the rate of [illegible] a year. They are to be under control of the secretary of the interior, and their business will be to collect testimony in regard to [illegible] rates, overcharges, and discrimination, and to submit them to congress, and to collect facts in regard to the roads by which congress may be enabled to legislate intelligently. It provides that any of the commissioners shall have power in any investigation to summon witnesses, administer oaths and take testimony, and direct production of books and papers and contracts relating to the subject of complaint. All judges of U. S. district courts and circuit courts are directed either in or out of term time, to compel attendance of witnesses before the commission. The bill further provides that the board shall have power to call on common carriers for reports of all rates and charges, and shall report to congress all cases of excessive rates and charges and discrimination that may come within its knowledge. The commission is to be appointed by the president, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, and is to hold office for five years. Action on the bill at present session is not expected.

Pacific Coast Appropriations.

The appropriations made for the San Francisco mint were as follows: Salary of superintendent, $4,500; $3,000 each for assayer, melter, refiner and coiner; $2,500 each for assistant assayer, assistant melter and refiner and assistant coiner; $2,150 each for chief clerk and cashier; $1,400 each for bookkeeper, abstract clerk, weigh clerk, warrant clerk and register of deposits; $1,800 for cashier's clerk; $1,200 each for [illegible] clerk, assistant weigh clerk and superintendent computation clerk; [illegible]. For wages of workmen and adjusters, [illegible] for incidentals, contingent expenses, $70,000. Appropriations were also made for mints at Carson, Nev., and Denver, Col., and assay office at Helena, Montana, and Boise City, Idaho.

Washington Notes.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—The senate committee on postoffices and post roads has been considering the propriety and advisability of reducing postage on letters to two cents. On newspapers and other printed matter to one-half the present rates, and ask postmaster general if proposed rates can be adopted with safety.

A sub-committee of the house committee on elections in the South Carolina contested election case of Small (republican) against Tillman, has decided Tillman, the sitting member, was not elected.

Doyle, convicted in Chicago of having in his possession counterfeit bonds, offers, through counsel, to prove conclusively the genuineness of the $1000 bond plate, how it was obtained and all about it, provided he be released from confinement. Doyle's friends claim he is innocent and misjudged in the transaction and that they will prove it to the satisfaction of the government. They state the bonds found in Doyle's possession are not counterfeited, but bonds printed from the genuine plate, issue of which, however, were not authorized by law.

The house committee on judiciary authorized Representative Humphreys, of Wisconsin, to report a bill to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy, providing that where creditors in cases of involuntary bankruptcy shall give authority before instituting action and suit be decided in favor of the bankrupt damages shall be reasonable, and in case of fraud any person may be adjudged bankrupt, but for failure to pay within a stated time or dissolve an attachment shall not be so adjudged.

Don Cameron has resolved to make several changes among federal officials in his state. When an acceptable place can be found for him, Collector Hartranft will give place for a more aggressive man, and Postmaster Huidekoper will soon be compelled to turn over his office to a stalwart.

General Logan appeared before the committee on education and labor Saturday, and made argument in favor of his bill directing the appropriation of the internal revenue receipts from tax on whisky for the benefit of the national school system. He reviewed the points made in his speech in the senate upon the introduction of the bill, and presented some special points upon consideration of the committee. He asked for an early report upon the bill. A vote, taken this morning, showed three of the four members present favored the measure, and there will undoubtedly be a majority report in favor of the bill, and it will probably be presented to the senate next week. Senator Blair, chairman of the committee, has prepared a speech upon the subject, which he expects to deliver next Tuesday. Senator Logan is confident that, if the bill is reported next week, he will be able to pass it through the senate this session.

Blaine is in Harrisburg to-day where he will remain two or three days. Politicians here think Blaine is taking part in the independent fight in Pennsylvania, and that he is indirectly doing all he can for Senator Mitchell.

Ayer's Ague Cure is the only medicine in existence which may be considered an absolute antidote for fever and ague, and kindred diseases. It not only affords immediate relief, but it eradicates the malarial poison which produces the disease, without leaving any enervating or injurious effect, as is the case with many of the ague medicines advertised.

CHINA AND JAPAN.

The French in Possession of Hanoi—Chinese Political Notes—Details of Commodore Shufeldt's Corean Expedition.

HONGKONG, May 15.—The French expedition against Hanoi promises to accomplish all the projectors may desire, although the ultimate object is obscure. Customs are to be collected under French authority hereafter. Trade is now stopped, but efforts are made to revive it in French interests. The governor general of Hanoi and the Annan general hanged themselves immediately after the capture of the city. On the night after the capture a native mob attacked the French missionaries' residence, but were repulsed. Two assailants caught proved to be Chinese and were shot without examination the next day in the public square. On April 27th the city walls were leveled with dynamite. Provincial governors near Hanoi have already given signs of submission.

A daily Chinese newspaper is about to be issued in Hongkong; the first of its kind.

YOKOHAMA, May 26.—After a long and secret preparation, the details of Commodore Shufeldt's expedition to Corea was disclosed. Instead of accepting aid of Japan he relies chiefly on Chinese influences. This enables representatives of all other western nations to proceed simultaneously with him or possibly to anticipate him, whereas if Japanese co-operation was adopted America would have been the first in the field. Everything is now to be done under the theory that China controls the foreign affairs of Corea. The draft of the treaty with the United States was prepared in Pekin under Chinese supervision, envoys from Corea being present. The envoys will return to Corea in the Chinese flagship escorted by a Chinese squadron, Commodore Shufeldt accompanying in the steamer Swatara. It is everywhere believed, though not yet officially announced, that the British envoy to China, Sir Thomas Wade, will sail immediately for Corea in the Vigilant, other British ships meeting on the Corean coast, and the French squadron preparing for the same destination. Russian and other officials are understood as about to start likewise. Sir Robert Hart, superintendent of the Chinese customs, is expected to visit Corea with suitable employes to take control of custom houses at open ports. The Chinese commercial shipping company sends agents with an admiral to purchase land at open ports and arrange for immediate opening of trade. This programme is antagonistic to Japan's prestige and interests, Japan having thus far controlled Corea's external affairs and monopolized its trade. A Japanese minister was dispatched to Seoul, capital of Corea, early this month, with secret instructions.

Damage to the United States ship Albert by collision with the Japanese ship Jingei Kuwan is ten thousand dollars, which the Japanese government offered to pay. The offer was courteously declined.

Silk and tea markets are unusually active and much larger sales than last season expected.

Isolated cases of cholera continue in Yokohama, and authorities order observation of strict precautions.

Permanent Japanese naval depots are to be established at Corean ports.

The 600 Chinese en route in the Mary Tatham from Hongkong to Portland, Or., and wrecked on the coast of Yeza, the Chinese minister in Japan has contracted to have sent back to Hongkong, owing to intelligence of signature of the anti-Chinese bill.

Notes From Ireland.

DUBLIN, June 10.—Davies Castle, near Mallow, county Cork, was burned by an incendiary to-day.

Three persons have been arrested on suspicion of being implicated in the murder of Rourke.

Three farmers near Ballina, east of Roscommon and Hickey, near Castle Aland, were shot and seriously wounded yesterday.

Irish judges have passed resolutions protesting against trials being held by a commission of three judges without juries, in event of the repression bill passing with its obnoxious provisions.

Baron Fitzgerald will resign.

Dervish Pasha's Attitude.

CAIRO, June 10.—The consuls-general separately visited Dervish Pasha to-day, except representatives of England and France, who called upon him together. He said he hoped to succeed in arranging the present difficulties. He also gave audience to the principal Egyptian officers, and afterwards to the president of the chamber of notables and the greater portion of that body, and also to Sultan Pasha. He declared he was resolved to restore order, and that if necessary to that end he himself would assume the ministry of war. The military party attempted to establish a sort of espionage over Dervish Pasha, but he has managed so far to effectually prevent carrying out their design.

CALIFORNIA.

San Francisco Health.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 10.—There are now 382 patients in the city and county hospital. The city's health has much improved this week, 83 deaths only being recorded up to one o'clock Friday, instead of 107 for the last week. For the corresponding week last year there were 87. There are now but ten Altonower cases at Twenty-sixth street hospital, and eleven other cases which are sick with other diseases than smallpox.

A Swindling Suit.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 10.—The dismissal of the suit brought by Tully R. Wise, a lawyer of this city, against the Manhattan Life Insurance company to recover a policy on the life of Mariano Rubio, to the amount of $15,000, brings out an interesting plot to swindle the company by a set of sharpers who furnished proofs of Rubio's death. A half interest in the policy had been assigned to Wise by Miguel Noe, creditor of Rubio, for whose benefit the policy was originally made. A searching investigation resulted in finding Rubio alive in Mexico, and he was brought to this city. Noe and Wise appear to have been imposed upon as to proofs of death and on being satisfied of Rubio's existence moved dismissal.

Snake River Falling Slightly and Continued Cold Weather—The Lines Working.

At half-past one yesterday afternoon telegraphic communication was established between Portland and the "Inland Empire," and the wires brought the cheerful information that Snake river was falling, the Columbia rising very slowly and that the weather remained cool. The temperature for four days at 8:30 A. M. was about as follows: The Dalles 58, Celilo 63, Umatilla 65, Riparia (South Texas) 68, and the weather was calm and cloudy all along the line. No reports were received from points east of Riparia.

THE RISE IN FOUR DAYS.

Mr. Frank T. Dodge, assistant superintendent of the O. R. & N. Co.'s river division, has kindly prepared the following table of the rise at various points for four days. It is compiled from telegraphic reports received yesterday, and indicates the rise during the 24 hours ending at 8:30 A. M. of each day.

Cascades	63	14	14	13	6
Portland	...	12	11	9	8

Yesterday morning the river stood as follows: Riparia, 16 ft. 7 in.; Umatilla, 27, 3; Celilo, 24, 10; Dalles, 34, 7; Cascades, 51, 10; Portland, 25, 3. High water marks were as follows at the Dalles: 1876, 51 ft. 3 in.; 1880, 48, 7; at Portland in 1876, 28, 2; 1880, 27, 3.

THE RAILROAD.

There are two short breaks in the track, one between the Cascade locks and Bonneville, and one above Bonneville; but passengers both ways made connection by river. The Annie Faxon brought down a large load of passengers, which connected by the portage from Celilo to The Dalles with the middle river boat, which reached the Upper Cascades about dark. The Cascades portage on the Washington side was intact, the fish wheel which threatened danger to Hamilton slough bridge having been dislodged. The R. R. Thompson was expected down at 11:30, with through passengers, but had not arrived at that hour. About 100 persons left by yesterday morning's boat and got through to The Dalles. They will probably reach Wallula to-night.

A LIVE OPERATOR.

Friday night, Mr. A. A. Mullen, the O. R. & N. Co.'s operator at Bonneville, who determined to do his little best towards getting the line up, walked from Bonneville to Wyeth, a distance of eleven miles, so that he might be able to start back early yesterday morning. At Wyeth he met a repairer of the Western Union, and they walked back together, stretching the line where it was down and establishing connection shortly after noon. For Mr. Mullen's zeal, the OREGONIAN desires thus publicly to thank him. The name of the repairer could not be learned, else he also would have been thanked.

IN THE CITY.

The river rose in the 24 hours ending at 1 o'clock this morning 5 inches, and the Stark street gauge read 25 feet 4 inches. The rise during the last five hours was 1½ inches. All stores below Washington have elevated stocks or have made such preparations as will enable them to clear floors in two or three hours.

From reports given above every one may make his own calculations about how much the Willamette will rise. The wires up the Columbia were so burdened last night with important delayed messages that no weather bulletins were received, except at Walla Walla, where the weather was clear, calm and cool at 1:30 P. M.

The ship Charger, hence May 15th, returns this morning, having been on fire. Fire was discovered in the forehold, supposed to have originated in some wood pulp. The fire was got under control after four day's hard work. The ship had a narrow escape, as below the fire was stored nearly 8000 cases of castor oil, between which was flooring and steel rails. Hall the oil caught fire of course that would have been the end of the ship. As it was a large number of cartridges exploded and the wonder in shipping circles is that the ship was saved at all. Much praise is due the captain and crew. The extent of damage to the cargo is not yet known.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit those diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organization broken down, and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.
